	2. Explain the reason for the rating above.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• It could help community to develop new ideas to the issue that is really need assist to tackle the problem in the globe now.• The exercises and tasks were good. But the limited explanation on how to do the tasks makes it very complicated and demotivates the students because it feels like there is not specific criteria to be met.• Good experience of research and time keeping, because this program will aid in developing your critical thinking skills with regard to particular issues.• I personally think the program is not really active (Communication wise)• I experience and learned a lot of things, I meet a new friend here in sigloc.• SIGLOC offer so much information and it helps one to know his/ her capabilities and it also enhances one's knowledge on so many different topics, projects that are meaningful.• Undeniably, SIGLOC is a program that will hone someone in so many aspects. I give it a 10/10, even though, at some point, I had a hard time accomplishing tasks. The program made me push myself a little far from my comfort zone so that I was able to have a brand new experience. Also, through this, there is a lot to learn. From sustainability, communities, cultures, and even make relationships. It's a wonderful experience I would like everyone to try.• SIGLOC helps me a lot to become a critical thinker in providing an efficient solution considering the probable impact and benefits to the target area. It allow us to communicate with other people with different cultures and perspectives until our perspectives become one, lastly even if not all participants can speak in English concisely they still manage to consider the point of the speaker. Lastly I love the friendly environment, I love the way how they consider each and everyone's presence.• I would recommend SIGLOC-online not just because it is an international program but because they will learn a lot from the professors as well as from the other participants. First, they will learn a lot from the culture of the other members as well as the culture of Japan since there are portions or parts of the program where the participants can introduce their culture as well as the things that they have in their country that they are very proud of having and

		as a student or person who never been there to their country, it amazes me and made me think to strive more to visit their country soo because it such a good way to manifest that their country is rich in culture. Second is like what I have mentioned wherein you will learn a lot from your other group mates as well as from the professors since they give comments on the social issues that you are dealing with and give suggestions on how you will improve your solution especially if it is feasible or not as well as the format on how you will going to implement it or even how you will make it more engaging and feasible. Lastly, I think one of the best memories I had in SIGLOC which I can recommend to other students or graduates who would like to participate in the program is when it comes to having friends internationally. It is because you will get to know people from other sides of the world and listen to their life stories, especially if you are in a group where there is solid communication and bond. It is good to practice your English speaking skills and you know just catch up with people you never thought you will become close with. I guess I have learned a lot from SIGLOC and I will cherish every moment I had with them. It is such a wonderful experience. Also, it challenges a person to think critically and innovatively as well as be responsible enough with their time management but luckily, the participants and the professors are very considerate, patient, and understanding, especially since sometimes, some participants have their schedules and things to do aside from SIGLOC. With that being said, I am really happy to be part of this program and I will surely recommend this, especially in my university. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • I believe SIGLOC will help them improve their self in terms of understanding, identifying, and solving social issues. • Because SIGLOC-Online is not very popular in our country, and we have our own platform to communicate. • The SIGLOC-online is very organized with talented and good staffs, teachers etc. It allows students to be innovative and create new friends from all over the globe. • The whole SIGLOC experience is wonderful. I got to meet new people and new teachers who helped me with the assigned tasks and became my friends. It will also allow us, the participants to learn about the social issues with the interactive tasks. The reading and learning materials are easy to understand. I had so much fun learning while meeting other people of different countries. I was also able to widened my horizon and the understanding about the different cultures. • SIGLOC is a fun and meaningful experience for me and I would also like others to experience what I have experienced. • It is a fun program and lets people meet others around the world • The SIGLOC-online is a great program because it provides an opportunity for people to learn about different communities, cultures, issues, and perspectives. It is an avenue for people from different backgrounds to meet and interact. • I would definitely recommend this program to my friends or colleagues because of various reasons. First, they are able to discover and appreciate other cultures being practiced by the participants who came from different regions of the world. Second, through this program, they can improve socially because of the relationships that they can foster with the other participants. Also, they can widen their knowledge and deepen their understanding about the different issues prevailing around the community. This program will make them realize that even though they are still students, through their small actions they can contribute steps that could help in eradicating the present problems that people around the world faces. These

		are only some of the many reasons on why it is worth it to attend programs like the SIGLOC. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • IT HAS BEEN TRANSFORMING. Being able to be immersed and be gathered among eminent people from all over the world in different fields of experience, academia, and advocacy made my eyes open of the wide problems each community faces. At the same time, it made me realize that our minds are overloaded with a flood of ideas, information, interpretations, and visions. • Because, the SIGLOC will teach you how to be locally and globally competent educator • This program serves as a light that symbolizes hope and helps spread awareness to everyone across the globe. • Very interesting program and well-organized • It helps to shape/improve your skills • Opportunity to hear of issues across the globe • SIGLOC-online is an eye-opener program for every individual all around the world. This program will open your eyes to different challenges, opportunities and it will make you think globally. This program is highly recommendable to everyone, because it just not build the knowledge and skills of the students, but also established a sense of apprehension or understanding towards the happenings in our community. • SIGLOC has brought out a better version of researcher in me. • The experience is nice. The professors are very responsive, patient, and appreciative. However I wish that there were more days of synchronous classes as interacting with my online classmates would've been much better, along with the learning that synchronous classes entails. • This project has broadened my horizons, improved my critical thinking, and allowed me to see the world with a clearer personal perspective.

Part 2: Program Organization

Category	Question	Answer
Expectation	1. What made you decide to participate in SIGLOC-online ?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Email blast from the university • A new changes. We need some community to start change the issue in all around the world. • To do something meaningful • Advertisement • I want to participate in global initiatives. • Supposedly, I didn't expect that I'll be promoted to take this program. But eventually my dad was my motivation as he says every opportunity may arise take as much as you can. • I participated once in the 8th SIGLOC and the knowledge I gained and experience was rich so I thought I participate once again to learn more. • To be honest, at first, I wasn't interested in joining SIGLOC. However, since it was summer break, I thought of having a new experience that will not only feed my soul but also my mind. And indeed, SIGLOC fulfilled that. • To be honest I was inspired by our instructors discussion with regards to this program, then when I watch the promotion from the Youtube it catches my attention, I thought that it is a great opportunity for me to become more competitive. Lastly I also watched that it focuses on Issues, solutions and sustainability which is very interesting, I think it's more than a research that focuses on practicality. • To be honest, my professor just sent the link to me the day before the deadline I guess and she just send it without any message, which is very funny. At first, I thought that I do not have many things to do during my summer break so I consider SIGLOC as a way to become productive while having a great time with my summer break. I think what made me decide to participate in SIGLOC because it solely focuses on becoming an innovator and it is a great challenge to think critically and logically because that was my impression when I read the whole objectives and purpose of SIGLOC. As a psychology student, I need to become attached to society and made significant contributions so I could give a little significant difference. • I've decided to participate in this program because I want to improve myself in terms of understanding, identifying, and providing solutions to social issues. • I learned about it through the "School notice" and was very interested in the theme of this event. • I decided to participate in SIGLOC-online for my own self growth and as it is connected to my course which is Development Communication. • As a future educator, I have decided to participate in SIGLOC-online, because, first, I want to learn about the social issues of other countries that we might also experience. I also want to know more about different cultures and I am eager to learn how this program can change my beliefs and perceptions towards different social issues. Indeed, becoming a social innovator is a challenging process, but this thought motivated me to continue participating with this program. • Being accepted to one of the most prestigious international scholarship gives me a great opportunity to widen my knowledge about the world and meet new people with different perceptions in life which became my motivation in participating in SIGLOC-online. • Curiosity and interest • I decided to participate in SIGLOC-online because I want to experience being in an environment composed of different individuals with different backgrounds and cultures. I want to gain experience and ideas from different perspectives and approaches. I want to go out of my comfort zone and explore things to develop and improve. Lastly, I want to meet new friends and learn to be a social innovator.

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Aside from we are motivated by our professors to take part in this program, as an individual who continuously witnesses the prevailing problems around his community, I was encouraged to participate. I believe that this will be a great avenue for me where I will learn and acquire knowledge that would help me contribute something that would possibly help in resolving this issues within the community. Moreover, I am always excited to try something new and meet new people that will help me explore and discover. These are some of the reasons on why I have decided to participate in the program. • I am motivated by the mere capabilities of the youths. At the end of the day, our country's vision is in the hands of our kids. If these young people are not given adequate opportunities to develop their skills, it will be a huge waste of human resources. If young people are excluded or do not engage in the decision-making for their own future, our democracy is not genuinely representative of all people and is not reaching its maximum potential. We, the youth, are willing to challenge the status quo and initiate change where we believe it is due. • I want to learn new things that I don't know and I want to explore something new. • As an educator in the making myself, I want to become a good instrument to further help achieve the sustainable development goals for the betterment of our people and the world. • My scientific director recommended it to me, so I decided to participate • I joined because I want to increase my knowledge • Interest in social innovation and sustainability • I decided to participate in SIGLOC-online to be more aware about my community, and to be part of the changes that this world needs in terms of resolving environmental issues. • I have been passionate about taking up a space in the society in order to address issues that are in need of solutions. And SIGLOC is one of the best avenues to execute that yearning. • Our teacher at school sent out an email to join and I joined without expecting to be choses as one of the SIGLOC delegates. • I never had similar experience in the past, so I thought it will be a nice experience that deal some problems in my community with friends from other countries.
	2. What did you expect to learn from SIGLOC-online program initially?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • My expectations were higher but I'd say the program met my expectations • A good trade for the future by making a proposal in this program. • I expect more classes and guidance from the professors. This was not met. • I thought there might be a classes system. However, there was not, yet, my current experience was good. • Making friends and brainstorming with ideas with them. • I do expect we were going to study their curriculums but it turns out it was about the core problem that needs innovation. Yes, it really met my expectation. • Projects • Well, I thought that SIGLOC was going to be a learning program where there were lectures to be conducted; however, I encountered the exact opposite. And that's what made SIGLOC great. It made me challenge my capacity. • As expected it is undeniable that a program like this will never fail me to expand my horizon. I was actually nervous back then about an instances that I will not be able to finish this program but here I am typing what I had learned from SIGLoC, The 9th SIGLOC totally made a good contribution for us to be here, without them we'll not know that this program is an opportunity for us to have deeper understanding in a community where we live, as expected I will be thankful for knowing this program from them. • Well initially, I am expecting a lot since it is an international program where there are a lot of participants from around the world, and also expected that it would be a great chance to interact with other people and learn something that I had never

		encountered before, especially when it comes to social issues. Fortunately, the SIGLOC program exceeded my expectations and I enjoyed it a lot. Although sometimes there are stressful moments after that is the fulfillment because I was able to give a valuable solution that I am interested in as well as I am proud of representing our country despite having a lot of social issues. Also, I would like to commend that professors are very welcoming and appreciative. They are very considerate and patient, especially with so that is a plus point. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • At first, I am expecting that this is just a normal class however, as the first session starts, I realize that it is not a normal class. I also expected that at the end of the program, I am able to improve myself in terms of identifying social issue. This expectations was achieved. • My initial expectation was that through SigLOC-Online, I could expand my international vision, have more profound and unique academic insights, and develop friendships with classmates from different countries/regions. In the end, it fulfilled my wish. • I expected it to be a wonderful program, and in reality, it has exceeded my expectations. • Honestly, I expected many synchronous sessions every day. But, I am surprised that we learn through the reading the materials and understanding them. I am a bit of "self-study" type person that's why I enjoyed the process. Also, I expected that I will meet new people and make friends, and I was not wrong. I had the opportunity to talk to other participants through interactive tasks and I had so much fun. I expected that it will be a nerve-wracking experience, but I was wrong. I had so much fun because the staff are very welcoming, patient, and understanding. • I expected that the lessons would help to become knowledgeable about the cultures of other people and their perceptions in life. The SIGLOC online really exceeded my expectations. • A program that required 24/7 commitment. It did not meet my initial expectations, it was actually way better. • I initially expected that the SIGLOC-online program would be a synchronous-centered program wherein there would be discussions. Even though my expectation was different from what I had experienced, the program still had a great set-up and management of the tasks, activities, and deadlines. • Upon hearing its aims, I expected that it would teach us ways and help us discover things related to global sustainability. And as soon as I started the conference and finished it, I can say that my expectations were actually exceeded. I was able to learn new things about local and global sustainability and different factors present within the globe that positively and negatively impacts the regions across it. Moreover, we were also given a chance to develop a proposal for the problem present in our community. This program made us realize that in our little ways we can contribute something to lessen the adverse effects of the issues of our world. • Upon subscribing to this program, my initial expectation is to be informed about the problems the world is facing, promote communication among people of different backgrounds, share ideas and opinions on topics of mutual interest, but most importantly, to share the current situation my country has been experiencing: the exponential growth of out-of-school youth. As I step out of this program, I am happy and proud that I have exceeded even my most optimistic expectations in every way in the last month. • I expect that I will learn something new and meet a new friends on the other countries. Yes it is. Because i learn a lot and i have a new friends. • I expect SIGLOC-online program help me unleash my full potential and recalibrated my mind. Through this program, I deepen my understanding of cultural diversity and begin to build efficient and effective ties with different individuals and groups. It exceeded all my expectation and help me grow as a

		person. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • I expected something new and interesting for me. The 11th SICLOC went even better than I expected! • My expectation at Sigloc even before it started was that each of our sessions would be exciting and they met my expectation • I expected there to be more live interaction rather than just through slack mostly, but its ok! Understand that with different timezones it may be hard to have calls and such • I expect a lot from SIGLOC-online program, I know that I will learn a lot and know myself more after finishing this program. After I finish doing my picture book, • I have expected to learn more about sustainability, and even though it is more on individual activities, yes, it met my expectations. • I expected it to be very interactive in a way that there are more synchronous activities. • critical thinking capability
Theme	3. What did you find the theme of 10th SIGLOC (SDGs: Social Innovation in your local community toward solving global issues)?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Sustainability/ SDG (Sustainable development goals) • Very good theme given the rising of such issues globally • Great point • Concerning how to address them and initiate initiatives to resolve them with myself and some partnerships. • I find it critical to find out how to solve social issues and how I will be able to contribute to that specific topic. • Social Innovation in my local community toward solving global issues • Concerning the tasks we had, it's about solving the local community's issues which could also improve global sustainability. • Sustainability and community - With regards to the existing social issue from the focused community and the existing solutions, on how we formulate unique solutions to contribute to the sustainability where we belong. • It is very catchy as well as direct to the point. It is very important to always emphasize the sustainable development goals because it will be a guide for the students on what are the solutions that they could provide where there is a sustainable development goals that must be promoted. I think the theme is really in line with the objectives of the program and made the students more open to the society that we live in where social issues are very prominent. • The theme is very specific. At first glance we can understand that this program aims to teach students develop an innovative solution to their local community's social issue and this solution must be also applicable in solving global issues. In short, the theme tells us that by trying to solve local issues through innovation, we can also solve global issues. • Learn independently, communicate with each other, and jointly promote global sustainable development. • I found the theme interesting at first, but after attending the sessions, I realized how imperative the theme is. • This theme really made me opened my eyes about the social issues we are facing. I learned that we should start locally first before aiming the bigger target which is solving the global issues. We can actually help our society by solving the core problem in the community. Sometimes, we tend to forget about it because we are too focus to the bigger one. We can help through our small ways and it can create big impact. As they always say, "Small steps, giant leap." • This theme really reflects how we are to be once we completed this program: to be a Social Innovator. It allows is to solve the issues that our community is facing and how are we going to do our problems and stakeholders analysis to come up with a proposal.

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • I found it interesting • I think the theme of SIGLOC, which is the SDGs: Social Innovation in your local community toward solving global issues is evident in the flow of the sessions and tasks, particularly in the picture book that we did and presented because it included the core problem in our local communities and the solutions we proposed. This particular theme is relevant and helpful to the current situation in the world. • This theme clearly implies that we could solve global issues by starting from our local community. Assume that the issue is a tree, so for us to get rid of this issue, we should start cutting from its roots since this is its source of strength and life. Therefore, for us to solve a specific global issue, we should start from its roots, which are the issues present in the local community. By creating ways that could either open the minds and eyes of the people and taking part in the programs conducted within the community, we can contribute something that could resolve various global issues. We are able to start from a smaller perspective going through a bigger perspective and I think this is a good way because it will be more easy and convenient that starting from the bigger part then followed by the smaller part. • It has been true to its core. I was immersed with the different strategies on how I can improve my initial solution. This has helped me to have a widened my ideas and to think much more like a social innovator. • Solving issues in local community • Awareness allows us to be a "better change" ourselves as we begin to realize that there is so much more outside our respective comforts. With such great initiation and perseverance, we could be a torch of life in building a more peaceful and better environment for all. • It was new for me to participate in program with such theme. I think this theme is very actual nowadays • I/we can also provide information or action that can help society. • Good theme • I find it relevant, useful, and informative in a way that it makes you think of sustainable and practical ways and ideas that could/would help save the world from fully deteriorating. • We should transform what we learnt on the world into useful ways to work on the issues in local community, in this way can we solve the global issues better.

	8. Give some comments on what was difficult and/or needs to be improved regarding the communication environment and software applications that were used in the program.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • I feel like members should be more interactive but the lecturers and person in charge is very helpful and I appreciate it • Myoneslide. Sometimes I just had difficulties while doing my tasks. Maybe for the future SIGLOCs can improve the quality. Thank you. But, overall it is fine! • None. I have access to all required resources in ICT • I have nothing to comment regarding improving the communication environment by using zoom as the professors have been attentive when it comes to accompanying their participants. But I do have problem using slack since sometimes it can be open properly and need to trouble shoot. • The ICT were totally fine, others had bad network because of the weather ☁️🌡️ in their countries but for me had challenges operating my laptop because am still not very familiar with some tools. For example I had and still have a problem following the instructions on jamboard. • There's really nothing of a problem regarding ICT, especially with the professors. • For me the communication environment and Software applications that they are currently using is enough. This platforms consume lesser data and have impressive tools to be used, Depending on the area weather the signal will be stabled or not. • I guess none? Despite of the problems when it comes to technical difficulties and internet connection, the professors and the participants are very considerate and patient so everyone is you know do not have to worry if they are being late as long as they in the program. It is a job well than for the professors because of the attitude and the behavior they are showing to the students or participants, especially if there are problems in the ICT environment. • When it rains, it mostly disrupts or weakens the signal, so I was choppy when I presented my picture book. However, for the applications used and introduced by the staff, there is no problem at all. • I did not encounter some technical difficulties regarding the communication environment with the staff and professors. They were all responsive. The internet connection in our house is also good. I was able to join zoom meetings and participate to different activities. • I think phones should be allowed when joining the Zoom meeting since not all participants have their own laptops/desktop. • Better notifications, mainly on google drive • I think there is no need to be improved regarding the communication environment and software application used in the program because they were all effective and accessible. I had a problem with the signal of my internet connection, and the audio of my laptop broke, so in the end, I used my phone during zoom sessions. • So far, the platforms that the program used were all accessible and easy to use. Though at first it some of them were confusing to use since its our first time encountering them but as time passes by and through the assistance of the professors we slowly learned how to use them. In terms of the connectivity, so far I was not able to experience technical glitches since the internet here is somehow strong. But some of my colleagues had a hard time especially when it rains because their connection became weaker. • Everything was smooth. From using google slide, jam board, slack, etc., it was perfect. However, the problem I faced on the month-long event was my internet connection. There were just some lagging from here and there. It was nothing to do with the stakeholder's fault nonetheless. • The software apps that you use is very efficient. In our house, i don't have any internet connections that's why i buy load to join in the class and do

		activities. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The professors help us in experimenting the slack application but it is also better if we use discord because it offers tons of activity. • I think nothing can be improved. Everything was good • Internet connection and device • The apps and the mode of communication is very challenging to navigate at first, but it is a great opportunity for us to explore and learn different mediums of communication. In my environment, there where times that there are no internet connection in our house due to heavy rains and typhoons, but the good thing is, the task are done remotely and the professors are very considerate when it comes on this matter. • I find the my checklist taxing, since I am not quite familiar with google sheets. • Maybe in next time the organization could provide convenient VPN for Chinese students, because we are limited to use VPN in China.
	9. What are the pros and cons of learning online compared to participating in an actual study-abroad program/training?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Pro is I can do my work at m own phase and the con is that lack of human interaction • Pros: Flexible Cons: Prone to technical issues • Some of the pros include more flexibility and more outreach. The cons include lack of human interaction • 1. Actual study abroad program/training. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - The advantage is that participants will fully appreciate the opportunities provided by the program. - The participant's financial situation, culture shock, and language barrier are drawbacks. • 2. Online Learning <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - The flexibility offers benefits including effective lesson delivery, allowing students to take classes from any location, and reduced financial costs. - Poor internet connectivity, work interruptions, and multitasking are drawbacks. • The technical problem within our/someone's network is really the main disadvantage of online learning. How we are able to manage our time as we have also personal task at home and school. • Pros: it's a good way to collaborate and interact with people from afar. It's also a great way to learn or work in a case of eg COVID-19. Cons: bad network due to weather 🌧️, unstable network in a country etc. It's hard to follow the schedule for the program. Some people don't participate when working as a team and others tend to stop attending classes. • The pros of online learning are that, undeniably, it's convenient. It's accessible where ever you are as long as you have data or WiFi. The cons though are some countries experience slow internet connections, like the Philippines from time to time. However, all in all, throughout the program, it was manageable. • The thing is that when a program conducted thru online the expenses are definitely lesser than actual study, In online learning we can directly do the project or activities with other participants, Distances will never be a problem in an online learning while actual study will force you to be away from comfortable place. However the good thing about actual study is that the sources are more reliable if it is collected with primary and secondary sources. • The pros might be it is very flexible. You have your own time on when you are going to do the activities or task but at least you have to submit it on time. It a simplest form, you have your own schedule and management o

		how you will going to finish or do what is being given. I guess that cons is the internet connection since not everyone has a stable internet connection. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The cons of online learning are that the participants has a very limited communication, doing group work like sharing of idea is also limited, and making new friends is quite hard. The pros are, the participants do not need to spend lots of money just to participate, the time of making the tasks is purely on the hands of participants, and participants can choose when and where they want to do the tasks. • There is no atmosphere to study together. • The advantage of online learning is that you can continue to work with something other than SIGLOC; however, the disadvantage is that when a participant has low signal or data, it can affect his or her performance. • Since we are also learning online in the Philippines, it doesn't have much difference. I am able to participate to the Zoom Meeting prepared wherever I am because of the virtual set up. I can do different things or chores while waiting and reviewing other tasks and lectures too. Online Learning made the meeting of new friends fun also because we were able to have cultural activities. However, I think, the experience will surely feel surreal if it's done face to face. I would love to see the trainings actual. • There are barriers such as poor internet connection, language, and culture as well. • Sometimes you loose focus when online rather than face to face • The pros of learning online compared to participating in an actual study-abroad program/training are it is less hassle in terms of preparation. It allows the participants to do their responsibilities and tasks outside the program. On the other hand, the cons are the experience and learning of the participants are limited and restricted because it is more effective to learn personally and to interact with others face to face. • The pros of learning online is that you are able to improve your skills when it comes to technology and at the same time you can manage your time well. You are also comfortable since you work at the comfort of your own homes. Communication is easy as well because even though the participants are from different countries around the globe, they can still communicate and contact each other. But what makes online learning hard is the slow internet connectivity because aside from technical glitches, there are instances where you cannot submit your work on time because of how slow the internet is. Some do not have gadgets that they can use to participate which makes online learning hard for them. • Online learning has its both pros and cons. For me it was the following: • Pros: Time convenient / Wide variety of ICT tools / Less fear/anxiety about others judging them. Cons: instructions can be vague / Too much screen exposure / Less a hands-on/interactive learning / Less connection to your peers / Not all have access to computers/wifi, etc. • In online learning, You are safe because the COVID-19 is not already done. But, there are some time that you didn't understand the lesson because of your internet connection. While in actual study, you will learn more • I wanted to go to different country, explore their culture, and know every standpoint. We are innovative enough to complete these program but it is better if it is face to face to create a better ties to other participant's. We can't really reach other participants because they are not always active that is why I experience some delay. Despite of that I've gain virtual friends all over the world because of this program. • pros: You don't need to go somewhere just sit at home and study; Sometimes you can do several actions in the same time

		cons: You can practice your language skills; get more friends: You can easier understand the information you learn <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Pros was gaining knowledge and cons was schedule time • A bit harder to actually interact with people. If you study abroad you can talk to others face to face as well as immerse in a different culture • I think pros of learning online is acquiring information in the comforts of your home, because we don't need to go outside just to learn new information and come up with an innovative proposal, but the cos of it is the enjoyable face-to-face interaction with other siglocians, because having a physical interaction is better than online interaction because the mode of communication is more personal and fun. • An actual study-abroad program or training can address the issues being experienced by the participants easily. More so, online can be a little bit draining, unlike in face-to-face, one can communicate with the other participants and build a support system in person. • The online learning were mostly focused on the asynchronous tasks. The pros lie on the availability of time that we get since we can do it in our own will. However, the cons lie on the lack of boundary that we have, since oftentimes, we fail to distinguish which task is which since it's quite hard to focus on something, knowing that you can just do it at any moment. • Pros:Based on the world environment now, we can avoid the COVID-19 because we participate the program in home, also we don't need to make cost for the actual program. Cons: Some problems need us to solve by face to face, and we can't make sure that have a fixed time to talk with each other.

It is a good way to introduce our focus study. • Its very great to become you know determine the locality that I must deal with and made some research about it. • This session help me identify social issues in our community. This is the most challenging part for me. • I love this brilliant idea of task. This allowed me to study the community I live in and point out the social issues we are experiencing. I had so much fun because I get to learn more about the locality. This picture book also allowed me to understand my community and aim to help it through my simple ways. • Session 2 is quite challenging for me because it is the start of making our picture book. But, with the help of my co-participants, and their suggestions, I was able to surpassed it. • The tasks were reasonable • It was a great experience for me because this session made me know more about my community, including its background and its existing core problem. Moreover, I was able to propose a solution to the problem. • In this session, the picture book was introduced. The first two chapters were challenging considering that information within our community was only limited. Nonetheless, I was able to identify the problem of my community and it was fun reading the comments of my members on my output. Their suggestions were a huge help to me because I was able to improve my final output. • It made me more informed of the community where I live in. I don't even know that the place where I'm residing has the highest number of Out-Of-School Youths. • In this session, I thought it would be difficult, because my school works were at the same time. • I am amaze and honored to read the picture book of other participants. I realize that there is a bigger picture in each community. It helps me to become more aware and to widen my perspective about each problem in each community. • It was interesting to search issues in my community, but it was difficult sometimes to find reliable data • it gave joy to do other tasks • In this session, I learned a lot from the comments of my fellow Siglocians, they thought me to be more SMART (Specific, Measurable, Attainable and Time bound) and trive excellence in everything that I am accomplishing. When I was reading their comments, I discover that they also have the same sentiments and

Since the main issue of my community is the very well known COVID-19 disease, they understand and know some of the additional informations and reasons why some elders in the said locale refuses to get vaccinated. Also, I discovered that they have different ways in suggesting and seeing things for the development and improvement of one's picture book. The first commenter focuses and give suggestions about the specificity and thorough statistics of my data, the other one focuses on the scope of my program and focuses on giving suggestion on how this solution will be accessible to everyone. I think because they are in different countries, they also have different environment and pattern of thinking in which it influences them in their way of suggesting and commenting on my picture book and it undoubtedly helps my picture book in a great extent. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • It was taxing for me since mt laptop corrupted during the second week. • Not bad

It allow us to dig deeper with regards to the existing issue playing in a certain area, It gave us an opportunity to realize the defectiveness of some existing solutions and on how can we make a better solution. The Cause and effect diagram targeted the core problem so that it will be easier to formulate a solution, The comments from other participants made us realize that there are better solution than what we initially thought. Lastly The revision of the proposals and solutions proved that it's better to base the operation with continuous operation to block and resolve the problems that might appear into the future. • It is great to received comments and suggestion from my other groupmates because it helps me to determine what I need to improve. • In this session I realized that my proposal should be something that is not only applicable to my community but also to the world. In that way, I can meet the thought behind the theme. • This task helped me to think deeper and more logical. The eagerness to help and participate to different local projects arose in me when I did the Session 3. • Very challenging I must say especially with the Chapter 3 which includes Problems Analysis and Stakeholders Analysis. I find it hard because there are a lot of causes why certain problem arises. • The dates felt rushed in some parts • I am satisfied with session 3, wherein I completed my picture book, and I realized that my proposal of a solution for local sustainability could also contribute to global sustainability.

		<ul style="list-style-type: none">• This is one of the fun part because in this session we are encouraged to use our critical thinking skills and innovative side because we are expected to propose something for our community. At first it was very hard, but through constant research and with the help of the materials provided I was able to come up with my proposal and finish my whole picture book.• I got to know more my classmates: their views and their expertise.• This will let you to explore ideas on how your proposal can contribute locally and globally• It allows me to research and think of a solution in the issues that we are currently facing.• It was very interesting to analyze the issue and search different solutions to solve it• this is where my critical thinking improved• My fellow Siglocians made several suggestions and ideas that I had never considered during the portion of the program where we were all offering feedback on each other's picture books. This considerably improved my picture book and taught me how to observe things with a sharp and observant eye. When I read the comments left by my fellow delegates on my picture book, one of them proposes that I give the participants some "care kits" in addition to addressing the issue of those seniors and kids who lack the technology and internet needed to take part in the project. Truly, the last session gave me a fulfilling experience as I am about to finish the picture book and come up to an idea where I know will resolve and contribute to the problem of my chosen community.• My laptop corrupted that's why I had a hard time complying with the task. Nonetheless, it's great since I've pointed out issues that our community vastly faces.• Maybe we can have more examples

It's similar to pinging them and asking them to respond.• Not very effective because others would be delayed to complete the whole session by other participants.• It was great. Communicating through comments was fun while we are critiquing one another's works.• The interaction made everyone to form a better result of analysis, It made us realize that we may not stick to our own proposed solution but in return if we consider others proposal we can come up with better result, The interaction gave light to the development of something or idea it also built a friendly environment to begin trusting one another.• One of the best moments I had all through out the program because I was able to meet new friends while giving solution to my chosen social issue.• The interaction help me sort out some ideas that I can use to finish my task.• The comments of other participants helped me to improve my work in each tasks. Also, by commenting to their work, I think, it helped them too to improve theirs. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • All my questions and queries about the tasks were answered. • The participants were easy to work with • The interaction with the participants was very effective because the comments, questions, and suggestions provided in each output helped the creator to improve and complete their task. • I am a person who struggles to interact and I always becomes shy whenever talking with someone. But this program and its activities have allowed me to interact and communicate. The other participants were also approachable especially when I ask questions to them. I am also able to make new friends and we had fun messaging each other during our free time. • It was really informative. They are like a new lenses that made me overlook my proposals; have it better and more concrete. • It's nice • Some of my partners are not active so I worried about not following the schedule. Despite about the delays I've gain a lot of friends and understand diverse culture in the world. • All my partners did the tasks in time. Thank them for it! • Other races are kind and they are active in class • I enjoyed interacting to different participants are the sessions continues to progress. I learned a lot from their suggestion and I even gained a lot of friends. • Due to our busy schedule and time differences, contacting each other was hard. • I hope in the next time participants don't be shy.
	9. Give comments on the responsibility and role of team managers.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • No responsibility to taking care of our group. • So far the leaders are good in communicating but there is a need for explanation on the expectations on the tasks. • The responsibility of the group leaders is to maintain the task that was given. The expectation of their members should meet. • For my group, our leader was great and active but others were inactive. • Our group leader in our group really did a great job of building a relationship with us. In fact, we talked about keeping in touch even though the program is already done. • Leadership doesn't mean that only the leader will act, Thus other participants made an initiative to make the Group active, The leaders presence is to guide and prevent the members to misunderstand each other. • Our leader is very considerate. I believe he deserved to be the leader because he knows how to check if everyone is doing well and also checks other picture books even he is not an assigned commentator but ensuring that we are all doing the right thing. Special thank to him! • Our group leader is not that active • Great • We were blessed with a leader who actually very eager to complete the tasks by group. The leaders helped us to know more about each other by hosting different cultural activities. • Our leader doesn't really initiate to communicate with us specially in making our team logo. • They were responsible and active • I think the responsibility and role of the group leaders are very crucial to the productivity and unity of the groups because it is their duty to take the initiative to make the members be connected and active. • At first I was assigned as the group leader but because of some other duties I

		asked the professors to choose another leader. We were advised to decide the person that will lead us and our group decided to choose the one. She was very approachable and also fun to be with. It was nice meeting a person like her. Though there are moments where she is busy with university stuff that's why as her members we initiate to finish tasks on time. <ul style="list-style-type: none">● Our leader is a great leader. However there can be some improvements on our interactive activities. Nonetheless, a good group.● our group leader didn't even show any signs of it. But it's okay, my team member leads our group● Group leaders encourage us to do our work on time. They have a vital role in organizing and leading each team.● I was a group leader, try to do all activities with my group mates in time, but some of them didn't participate in the joint work● I lead the leadership for my group● My group leader done a great job. She instruct us to create a video wherein we get to know the different cultures of my groupmates.● Our group leader was not that efficient since she also has other commitments that she omitted to unite us all as a group.● She makes a good job in the group, and do her best for her responsibility.

Activities	4. Give your suggestions to improve Cultural Activities.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">● Set the time before held the cultural activities, because some may not be able to join the activities due to different timetable depends on where we lived in.● No comment.● Plans for the event by the group contain not just one suggestion but also suggestions from other participants.● I suggest that everyone will be participant so it would more fun.● I mean the ideas that we were given by the instructors about group activities were just fine but we had inactive members which made it very boring to interact and make a decision.● I suggest that our school offer an enough time for us to be with this activity, But I'm satisfied because cultural activities means a collaboration with others with different culture which happened during the project development. Maybe a price is also good if these kind of activities will be held again :)● In my case, everything went well but I hope everyone will attend cultural activities next time because only few participants enjoyed and joined the cultural activity.● The individual activity is really satisfying however, we don't have group activity.

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • These activities helped us learn different cultures as well as know different people who eventually became our friends. I think this is such a cute and great idea. • It was fun and meaningful because we were able to interact with other participants. • Time constraints made it hard to do • I do not have any suggestions because the current cultural activities are already great. It is on the group how they will do it. • There is nothing to improve because the cultural activities conducted during the program were all fun. We also enjoyed sharing the various culture that our country have and its amazing places that would be visited by the participants. Moreover, the cultural activities served as a door which lead us to various cultures and traditions. This activity made it possible for us to understand and appreciate the amazing culture that the participants have. • It'd be better if there were more variety. • The participants needs to be active and it is important that each group has diverse culture so that they gain more knowledge by the help of one another. • Maybe to do group activities compulsory, so all participants will participate in them and enjoy • I think it will be more exciting if the staff also will join the cultural activities made by the students, because in that way they can also get to know a lot of students from different countries by doing cultural activities. • I think there should be more synchronous sessions than asynchronous ones, since it really deepen the bond among students in the classroom. By then, if their relationships are already established, it is much easier to conduct and do cultural activities to let them interact and socialize with each other. • More interaction is better.

In short, the knowledge I have gained is so great and helpful in finding jobs and educating others on how to have a sustainable community where everyone come to know their responsibilities in a community. ● I gained from SIGLOC-online that there really are varying issues existing even in the smallest community there is. Issues can be contrasting, such as overpopulation and reducing numbers of birth. Here, I learned that there is a lot to study, scrutinize, and look upon. Not only to solve the communities' social issues but also to relate it to global sustainability. ● I learned on how to manage my time, Look for an issue or discoveries , Formulate a solution, communicate with others, Consideration, Smile for good vibes, hardwork, to be creative, and cooperation. ● Aside from friends, I also gained knowledge when it comes to giving solution to the most critical problem of the society as well as considering the feasibility of my solutions. ● I gained knowledge and experience that I can use in my future profession. ● A sense of self-worth, a change in perspective and gratitude for friendship. ● I have learned a lot in this SIGLOC-online course. In connection to this SIGLOC, I have also gained new friends that I will cherish forever, and many other lessons that have shaped the way I am today and will be in the future as well.

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • I have gained a really wonderful experience. Many insights, knowledge, and information about the cultures and social issues of different countries. People whom I consider family and friends. • SIGLOC-online helped me to become a critical thinker and a problem solver as well. I was enlightened about the issues in our community which I am not aware before. It helped me realize that we can be the solution that we wanted to be. • Better understanding of the world • I gained so much from SIGLOC-online. The best one is the experience of being involved and active in providing a possible solution to the core problem within my local community that could also contribute to global sustainability. • Throughout the program I have discovered that problems are prevailing within the global and this bring threat, harm and fear to the people. This program made me realize that even though I am a student, in my small ways I can help in solving the global issues by starting from my local community. I was able to learn that for us to solve global issues, we should start first from our community because as soon as we eradicated the problem of our community it will be easy for us to combat the various global issues around the world. • It is not particularly easy to imagine overcoming the problems behind the closing of the session, but supposing that I did, then maybe I am destined to be here in the first place. Therefore, perhaps, I have indeed the capacity to be the Social Innovators that I are aiming and pursuing. • New ideas on how i contribute in our community • Apathy and ignorance are prevalent, particularly in our today's world. My courage to take part to this changes seems to be sparkless and the way I see things in my surroundings is not the way I perceived things now after I finished this eye-opening program. The honing experience that SIGLOC offers, widen my consciousness and my intellectual capacity to explore my community's existing issues and look for ways to combat and contribute to it, with the help of the different suggestions and perspective of my fellow Siglocians. • Always know your purpose. Know why you want to contribute in the community. And upon knowing, measure your capabilities: the things you can do, things you cannot, and the things you are willing to do by all means. Only then you can be an effective social innovator. • I gained a one time experience that I could look back in the future. (only if I am still alive) • the higher eyes horizon the various visions.
Suggestions	4. Give your suggestions to improve SIGLOC-online ?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • None, I think all the things are nice. • More instructions in the pages to ensure the students know what to include in the slides • Provide engaging activities that relate to the program's theme so that the participants may interact and have fun. • I suggest if it will last for about a month or 2 months to widen their strength and knowledge as other participants had found difficult with the due date given.

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Maybe more social interaction should be considered to help participants interact and learn more about each other. • I suggest for them to invite participants from different countries maybe add if there is a quota, Required participants to do a promotion and choose which is best and post it in social media platforms, maybe a unique award for those who had great performance in sigloc program. Overall I'm very satisfied with their program and its implementation. • I do not have any suggestions because everything went well. I guess it only needs to be consistent so that many students in the future will also be encouraged to resolve a lot of issues in this world. I am looking forward to see the SIGLOC program grow. All the love! • I don't have any suggestion sorry!!! • I don't have any suggestions for this program as I think it's well organized and well planned, but I do have a recommendation for the individuals who will be participating in the next SIGLOC. My suggestion for the participants is that they shouldn't be shy or be afraid when interacting with others across different cultures. You just need to be brave and have courage within yourself, and if you follow this, you will surely gain good friends, as I have in this SIGLOC. Gaining imperative information plus good individuals is a plus point. • I think having more synchronous sessions can also be added to make the participants interact with each other often. • Give 1-2 meetings to discuss the lessons and not just give them to the participants. • More time would be better • I do not have any suggestions because the current process of SIGLOC-online is effective enough with the organized checklist and schedule, clear instructions of the tasks, and example materials. • I have nothing to suggest because the program itself is well-crafted and the activities provided are all good and beneficial to the participants. Thank you for this wonderful opportunity. • Maybe adjust the schedule to not make it so constrained and tight? • More interactive activities and extend getting to know each other phase so that they can jive to each other when group work started. • 1. More synchronous sessions 2. Instructors will also give their feedback about our picture book • More synchronous sessions. • Keep on it.
